

The meticulous architectural design by Roberto Danesi defines the CX collection of furniture from Italy. Details are derived from a fresh and diligent approach to user needs.

A rotating return shell places additional work area where most needed. CPU drawer, optional leather insert and wire channel offer technology storage and protection.

Desk options include a cleverly concealed stationary drawer, aluminum trim and black leather modesty panel. Varied work surface heights allow better visual reference to work in progress and creates interest. Pedestal drawers feature an automatic self-closing device to protect furniture and its contents.

CX makes an eloquent statement in office, meeting and conferencing areas without sacrificing functionality. Careful base planning, for conference and meeting tables, maximizes seating capacity while adhering to Danesi's strict design aesthetic. Wire management solutions integrate beautifully into conferencing tops.
